On the Bridge

Much praise should be given the officers whose position on the bridge of the S. S. Mackenzie contributes greatly towards bringing the mammoth dreadnaught and its crew safely into home port. They have tirelessly served in plotting the course of the ship and in guiding it through turbulent seas. It is true that there were a few calm peaceful days, but on the whole the years during which these capable officers have served have been trying ones indeed. In four years' time, starting with a new and untried crew, these stalwarts whipped their neophytes into shape and at the end of the voyage have produced a seasoned group of veterans.

The 12-A sponsors were assisted in their work by the junior officers, the 12-A Congress. These two groups, under the direction of Mr. G. Treweek and Miss B. Covey, planned the 12-A picnic on May 9, at Rouge Park, Parents' Night at Mackenzie, and the graduation program.

Stars We Steer By

Perhaps you wonder why a full page is devoted to the stars pictured above. This place of distinction has been reserved for a small group of pupils chosen because of very definite reasons. These boys and girls worked diligently in school and took more than just an average interest in school activities. On the basis of scholarship, character, service, and leadership, the members of the National Honor Society have been selected to serve as leaders in the school and community.

During your days at Mackenzie you may have seen a remarkably young teacher in one of your classrooms. This person undoubtedly was one of the N. H. S. members as they are frequently called upon to serve as substitutes for teachers. This is just one of the tasks performed by this group, but rest assured that in a squall you can count on the N. H. S. to steer us through any difficulty.

I must go down to the seas again,
To the lonely sea and the sky,
And all I ask is a tall ship
And a star to steer her by.

—John Masefield

Salt Shakers

● Our voyage might be a very dull one, indeed, if it were not for the ship's syncopation department. Many a rough sea has been smoothed by the sweet and soothing strains of the String Orchestra, the only orchestra of its kind in the city.

The versatility of our band is evident. The boys and girls are equally at home playing on the concert stage or the gridiron or beating out a touch of boogie woogie.

"Let There Be Music" might well be the theme of Mackenzie's Mixed Chorus. We all enjoy their kind of music and there is nary a gob among us but can testify that the ol' salt, "Pop" Luscombe, has done one whale of a job in training his "sea babies" in musical perfection.

The Mercury Fleet

● Whiz---Was that a streak of lightning? No, it was Frank Kuehn or one of the other members of Mackenzie's illustrious Track Team. Under the direction of C.P.O. Leo Grimes the S.S. Mackenzie crowded out its traditional rival, the S.S. Cooley, and took a third for the city.

These Mercurys of Mackenzie practice hard every day, which accounts for their excellent record this season.

Big Buoys

● It took five valiant sailors, with the aid of their shipmates, to give us a second place in the City League Basketball Championship. Of course, Commander Herb Spathelf deserves a twenty-one gun salute, as he never once left the helm of his battle wagon. He was in the thick of the fray at all times, encouraging his team on to victory.

Yes, it was tough to lose the city championship by one point. However, as one student said, "We may not win every time, but we will make any team fight hard to defeat us." That's the type of sportsmanship we practice here.

Working side by side with Commander Spathelf, Commander Richard Frankoski has produced a snappy group of reserves who promise to be excellent first string material in short time. Keep an eye on these boys, for they will be fighting for city championships in '46 and '47.

Sea Going Beauties

● Having lost her entire Varsity Basketball Team in February, Miss Edith Caswell called upon her reserves and developed them into a qualifying combat crew. Although the scores for the past season were not spectacular for our side, the girls show great promise for the '45-'46 season.

Ready! Set! Go! Our Mermaids are off in a dash for victory in fleet swimming competition. Winning or losing, the girls always put their best stroke forward.

Proved Performance

● "The People in This House" proved to be the pet phrase of the best comedy ever given on the Mackenzie stage. "Junior Miss" brought back the days when we were thirteen years old — those wonderful, rollicking days of junior high.

Although the rest of our June '45 class is surrounded by sailors, boats, and water, one of the things which was not at all wet was the 12B play, directed by Mr. Leonard Leone.

The Sea Bees, or Stage Crew, under leadership of Chief Sea Bee Kenneth Chapin, worked out the beautiful job of stage effects for the 12B play. This back stage group deserves much praise for the fine work they do.

Shore Patrol

● If you can still remember when you were a "Freshie", you should know about the difficulties you had in finding your way around this mammoth plant. When visitors come to Mackenzie they are convoyed through the building by members of the Reception Committee. The girls, recommended by their Counselors on the basis of previous services given to the school, have poise, personality, and a neat appearance.

If you have ever come to school before 7:45 and you felt sure you could take it "slow and easy" instead of keeping "one eye on the lock and the other on the clock," you have probably met a member of the Early Morning Patrol. Just as you were about to open your lock you heard a voice yell, "Hey, you can't open your locker. It isn't 7:45 yet!" And so you resigned yourself to the fact that, although the members of the "Early Morning Patrol" start at 7:00, they are still very much awake at 7:45.

Galley Breezes and Trade Winds

In the field of entertainment—especially the more substantial type, food — one finds the Home Economics Club in complete control. The delicious tidbits that these young hopefuls turn out are morsels which melt in your mouth. This semester the girls and Mrs. Rowe entertained guests on Pan-American Day and planned a special tea in honor of Mr. McNally.

"This article may be claimed in thirty days if not called for by the owner." These words ring a bell in the memory of all Mackenzie students. If you were to drop in the Lost and Found Department, you would find everyone busily returning articles to their absent-minded owners. Everything from a collar button to a complete wardrobe may be obtained in this place of business.

There's nothing like a book to take you far, far away. These little used items are found in the Second Hand Bookstore and are guaranteed to satisfy. Chief Petty Officer Meyer and his group of neat looking Waves handle the business of the Second Hand Bookstore with speed and efficiency. Besides books, they have War Stamps and tickets for any affair taking place aboard the S.S. Mackenzie.

Ship Ahoy

• All aboard, mates, for a gala time aboard the good ship S.S. Mackenzie. Some of these fancy shindigs, the 12B play, 12B-12A dance, and activities of the 12B class, are chartered by the 12B Congress.

The Junior Student Council should also be given much praise for helping steer our good ship through its many drives and activities. Many an hour was spent by these crews in planning both work and fun for the undergraduate body, resulting in a profitable and pleasant voyage.

Mains'l and Rudder

• Would you like a voice in school affairs? If you get elected to the Senior Student Council you can shout! The Council is a means of communication between the faculty and the students. The meetings are not always harmonious but all the members are sincerely interested in school activities. Sponsors are provided to keep the students from revolutionizing the school.

Attention, all the 11A would be sailors and waves. Yes, this is your very own 11A Congress. It consists of a boy and a girl from each homeroom of the 11A grade. Miss Byrne and Mrs. Glatzel assist this group in planning the battle-size activities for you.

Navy News

● Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! Step right up! Dont be bashful! Buy your DIAL. Every page a new thrill. Each cent buys many an hour of reading pleasure. Mr. Gibbons and Miss Bonnington sponsor our outstanding monthly publication which has received the all-American award for over five years.

Among the many stupendous features is the very popular page, "We Present" which introduces members of the ship's crew to the other people of the school.

If you see a student walking through the hall reading the DIAL and smiling out loud you can be sure he is reading "Quidnunc."

One sure way of keeping in step with the times is by reading the DIAL.

Saga of the Sea

1945

• Aboard the S.S. Mackenzie our log book, the STAG, is produced each semester by volunteer members of the ship's crew. This group, called the STAG Staff, is assisted by Miss Marie Henderson, Mr. Herbert Eiges, and Mr. Harry Hemenway.

We hope that after many years, those of the ship's crew who have been given their honorable discharges will be able to look at their STAGS and recall many happy memories of life aboard the S.S. Mackenzie.

Off Duty

• The Mackenzie Science Club, composed of students interested in all forms of science, gather weekly to hear speakers selected to demonstrate and to discuss the part science plays in our modern world. Sponsors Robert Snodgrass and David Aptekar appear to get as much enjoyment from our activities as we students.

The Advanced Camera Club, sponsored by Mr. Walker, has been doing big things this year. It has sponsored a contest for salon prints, which any student of Mackenzie was eligible to enter. The Camera Club not only teaches its members about photography, but it has helped them to secure jobs which will prove to be valuable experience.

Ship's Bookkeepers

• Have you ever been dunned for keeping a book out longer than you should have? If you haven't you must still be in the good graces of the Library Staff, which is one of the most active organizations in the school. The crew numbers sixty-one under the command of Mrs. Yabroff and Miss Whipple and may always be found checking up on unreturned books and placing them correctly upon the shelves. Our hats are off to you ambitious seamen.

Landlubbers

• The Mackenzie Unit of the Reserve Officers Training Corps has upheld the fine reputation of our school. For the second successive year they have won through stiff competition a trophy for proficiency in platoon drill. The competition was between the battalions of the 3rd regiment of the Detroit Brigade of the R.O.T.C. Our team was under the leadership of 1st Lt. Ralph Levan.

In a class which meets first hour every day, the officers and seniors are taught military map reading, rifle marksmanship and combat formation.

The Rifle Team competed for the City Cup on June 1st. These fine boys are all under the leadership and guidance of T/Sgt. Ernest Grommon.

Round the Cabin Light

• The custodians of the galley do a bang up job of policing the dining quarters of our ocean greyhound. These K. P.'s, serving under Chief Steward M. Byrne, devote one hour daily to galley work. Their duties involve checking for outsiders among the ship's personnel at mess time, running the dining quarters in an efficient orderly fashion, and generally maintaining a desirable place to eat.

It has been said that many a major engagement has been won or lost on the drawing board. The strategists and tacticians among our crew do not plan naval encounters but they certainy engage in terrific battles on the chess board. Sponsors W. Gordon and H. Bussiere will tell you that a battle involving a king, a queen, bishops, knights, horsemen, and castles is by no means a small one.
